Feb 2016

B. Timberg, Editor

President Sid's Message

The cold quieter winter months of January and February give most of us increased time to pursue our philatelic interests and to get deeper into the hobby. We find time to do more research and to write up and mount parts of our collection. These months also give us time to reduce disorder in our stamp rooms or corners. We can turn an accumulation or a pile of recent purchases into a readable useful article, collection or exhibit to share with others.

I am sure you would agree that learning is an integral part of this hobby. The following link is well worth checking out. In the section "Canadian Stamps and Covers" I found the 27 pages of entries entitled "Canada Centennials Printing Varieties" most interesting, renewing my interest in this definitive series. <http://www.stampcommunity.org/>

What new philatelic resources have you found useful and enjoyed this month. Consider sharing at our "Show and Tell / Learn and Share" sessions or let me or our editor Bob Timberg know so it can be included in our next newsletter.

If you are a subscriber to the Canadian Stamp News you will have appreciated the Editor's column (26 January issue) in which he highlighted the importance of volunteering to ensure the ongoing success of a club or organization. This coming May we will be holding our biennial election of officers and directors. It is not too early to consider if you might want to fill a vacancy on the board. We will soon be detailing the nominating procedures and vacancies for the 2016 / 2018 term. Your enthusiasm for the hobby and the success of our club will grow as you take on more responsibility.

I would also like to remind members of this month's Discussion Group presentation. Be sure to circle the date (February 16) on your calendar or enter it into your cell phone or tablet. If you had the good fortune to attend Part 1 last fall you will know that this presentation will be most worthwhile and informative. Seating will be at a premium so come early.

I appreciate any suggestions you might have to make our club even more successful and look forward to your attendance and participation this coming month.

From the Editor

We have repeated from the last issue details of the coming Club competition in May. Those of you who are members of The Royal Philatelic Society of Canada have had the benefit of reading since late 2013 a regular column in the Royal's magazine, The Canadian Philatelist, on exhibiting by Dr. David Piercey. The columns are excellent. The Royal is in the process of loading all columns to its website for the benefit of all exhibitors and potential exhibitors, whether members of the Royal or not. If you are thinking of entering the Club competition, you will do yourself a favour by looking at the columns for guidance. Bonne chance! Ed.
